VILLAGE WINES

We make mountain wines. The Andes Mountain Range determines the identity of our wines, since it is decisive in the climate, water and soils.

We believe that the Uco Valley is, due to its proximity, the area that best expresses the mountain identity in Mendoza. Since we began to explore its diversity, I was captivated by the austere richness and uniqueness of each of its villages.

Polígonos is the expression of those villages of the Valley. These are wines that make us travel through those places, through their landscapes, climates and soils.

Its grapes come from different places that can be imagined on a map with diverse shapes and edges. A capricious geometry as diverse as the sides of a Polygon. As diverse as the wines of each village.

ORIGIN

IG Paraje Altamira, San Carlos, Valle de Uco, Mendoza.

THE PLACE

Paraje Altamira is located on the plain extended south of the source of the Tunuyán River, between 1050 and 1150 meters of altitude, and occupies the highest part of its alluvial fan. This place has a cool temperate climate, with great thermal amplitude. Its soils stand out for the presence of a large conglomerate of stones and granite gravel covered with calcareous material, where huge rocks can be found weighing up to 20 tons.

HARVEST

2021 was a great harvest. With cool and humid weather, the grape clusters had the necessary time to reach maturity with a perfect balance of sugar and acidity, and a strong tannin structure. Our meticulous work of separating plots and soil types for harvesting (which has been ongoing for over a decade) allowed us to harvest every corner of our vineyards at the perfect moment and thus showcase the great diversity that characterizes the Uco Valley.
